With our outcomes for children and young people improving each year, Royal Greenwich is a great place to grow up, work and visit. Whatever their background, we want every child, living in this great borough in a great capital city, to be able to take full advantage of the opportunities available on their doorstep, and we’re looking for great new teachers to show them how. We believe that all children are entitled to a challenging and fulfilling education to help achieve their highest potential and we are determined to give them the best possible start in life. We know that a good education is the key to improving life chances so driving up educational standards is our top priority.

The Royal Borough of Greenwich is a diverse borough of contrasts; the Eastern and Western hemispheres meet, royal heritage sits next to contemporary architecture, areas of deprivation are nestled in amongst areas of affluence and green, open spaces sit next to the hustle and bustle of shopping, cultural and business centres.

What makes Royal Greenwich schools a great place to work?

Royal Greenwich schools are vibrant and stimulating settings, where our cultural diversity is celebrated. Our pupils speak over 150 different languages and around 40% speak English as an additional language. All of our schools are highly inclusive and work tirelessly to secure the best possible outcomes for all our children and young people, regardless of their starting point. For us, children always come first.

In 2017 our schools achieved the following:

- 98% of our primary schools are rated as “good” or “outstanding” by Ofsted, compared to 91% nationally.
- Our performance exceeds national and London performance across the main measures at the primary stage. At KS2 Greenwich is among the top 10 local authorities in the combined reading, writing and Maths measure with 70% achieving the expected standard compared to 61% nationally.
- 79% of secondary schools are rated as “good” or “outstanding” by Ofsted, this is in line with the national.
- 62% of KS4 students achieved 9 – 4 in GCSE English and Maths (equivalent A*-C grades) compared with 59% nationally.

Why choose Royal Greenwich?

We have an excellent track record of recruiting talented and ambitious NQTs, who contribute significantly to Royal Greenwich outcomes for children and young people. Once NQTs start teaching here, they stay here. Our schools provide supportive induction programmes, backed up with the expertise of our Standards Teams and NQT Induction Team. You will have opportunities to develop your career provided by your school and the Royal Greenwich NQT Team, who deliver a centralised NQT programme as well as an NQT Welcome Event and Conference.

Teachers working in Royal Greenwich are paid on the Inner London Pay Scale.

How to find details of vacancies

By registering on our dedicated website, you can view advertisements placed by our schools and find out more about teaching in the Royal Borough of Greenwich schools. You will also receive updates of suitable vacancies as they are added.

Please visit servicestoschools.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/nqt to register or contact us via school-workforce@royalgreenwich.gov.uk